3. UPDATE AND DISCUSSION OF AMENDMENTS TO THE ZONING ORDINANCE, SIGN ORDINANCE AND NEIGHBORHOOD BEAUTIFICATION ORDINANCE TEXTS (ZT2004-2)

Tambri Heyden, Acting Planning and Neighborhood Services Director, presented and update of the Amendments to the Zoning Ordinance, Sign Ordinance and Neighborhood Beautification Ordinance Text Amendments.

Commissioner Williams was concerned that the banner signs did not have enough detail like the a-frame signs. He is interested in seeing the banner section address size, being securely attached and fixed to the business. He felt that when banners are up for so long, they look tethered and raggedy hanging from the business. He wants to make sure that this is in the ordinance.

Ms. Heyden noted that banners are addressed under temporary signs and agreed with Commissioner William's concerns about banners. She noted that there are examples in the city of banners that have been up for three years and staff has spent a lot of time with them. The City has increased the timeframe for banners from 15 to 30 days and will be tracking them with a registering process. The process will be done by mail, over the counter, on the website, and staff will be tracking the times.

Dennis Carrington, Senior Planner, noted that on page 8 of the ordinance, the definition of temporary promotional sign, temporary balloon signs and temporary banners will be used for special or promotional events. On page 19, temporary promotional signs are permitted pursuant to a permit for a promotional sign, 15 days for all subsequent events, limited to how many times someone can put up a promotional sign. He noted that staff will be working with the sign and business community.

Commissioner Williams mentioned his concerns about signs that are hanging on fences over the creek, which could be a hazard to pedestrians. He asked staff if this is addressed anywhere in the ordinance. Ms. Heyden noted that they are address under public right away signs.

Commissioner Williams noted that he sees high school students waving signs back and forth and asked if this is addressed in the sign ordinance. Ms. Heyden noted that these type of signs fall under the temporary sign categories on page 8 and on page 23 under prohibited signs which are called moving signs.

Commissioner Mohsin asked how staff plans to enforce violations. Ms. Heyden replied that the first fine is $100, the second is $200 and subsequent fines are $500 dollars.

Vice Chair Garcia asked what was the consensus of the Sign Code Task force members in regards to the ordinance. Ms. Heyden noted that the Council was concerned however, the changes have been made and it is a good consensus.

Vice Chair Garcia noted that the CAC supported the pro-active nature of code enforcements and the need to have a program with teeth in it. He would like to put on the table and make a recommendation to Council that the proactive nature needs to be supported, otherwise it is going to be hit and miss. He noted his concerns that there are sign code violations everywhere.

Chair Lalwani noted that if a sign is confiscated, a realtor would have to pay ten dollars to retrieve it. She also pointed out that if a realtor has ten signs, then it would cost $100 dollars to retrieve the signs. Ms. Heyden noted that the City is not trying to make any money from sign confiscation.

After further discussion, Commissioner Galang asked if someone is charged by the size of the sign. Ms. Heyden noted that it is ten dollars per sign, regardless of size.

Ms. Heyden pointed out that staff purchased free standing public hearing notice signs made of plastic because the appearance of attaching signs to street trees, median landscaping, street signs, and stop signs was unsightly. It also reduces the need for the public works department to repaint the poles.

Ms. Heyden acknowledged Ed Eckert, Sign Code Task Force member. She noted that he might want to address real estate signs because his wife is a real estate agent and there are certain intersections where they are limited to install real estate signs.

Commissioner Mandal felt that staff was pro-active because of their public involvement.

Ms. Heyden explained that staff currently does not give someone a violation if they are in violation unless there is complaint so a pro active approach would release staff to seek compliance with the violations that are out there that no one has complained about.

Commissioner Mandal felt that in order for staff to provide a pro-active approach, staff would need additional resources. Ms. Heyden explained that staff wanted to take it on slowly at which staff would go out and revisit the neighborhood and wanted to do that on a quarterly basis and in the process streamline the procedures. Staff noted that there would not be a staff impact.

Commissioner Azevedo commented that he did not like the appearance of the city's public hearing signs.

Vice Chair Garcia agreed with staff's approach to periodically look out for code violations, in addition to having citizens complain. He is concerned about the public not following the rules when it comes to temporary signs and banners.

Commissioner Galang asked if it is confidential if a neighbor reports a violation and Ms. Heyden replied that it could be anonymous.

Chair Lalwani asked how does staff propose to educate the community. Ms. Heyden replied through utility bill inserts and the city newsletter and also the CAC has a NBO subcommittee who are starting to canvass the neighborhoods.

Chair Lalwani invited Ed Eckert to speak.

Ed Eckert, member of the sign code task force, noted that his wife is a real estate broker for Century 21 and he noted that signs being attached to public property are always being kicked over or being blown away by the wind. He suggested using bungee cords to hold the signs down.

Vice Chair Garcia agreed with approving the document however he suggested that the Commission take a position and make a recommendation to the Council on pro-active enforcement.

Commissioner Azevedo and Commissioner Mandal stated that they would not support pro-active approach.

BACKGROUND REPORT

MARCH 15, 2005, CITY COUNCIL BACKGROUND REPORT

At the May 18, 2004, Council Meeting, the Council approved a proposal to expand the City's code enforcement program by proceeding with amendments to the Neighborhood Beautification, Sign and Zoning Ordinances. The amendments were intended to reduce notification timeframes, add administrative citations to the sign code, enable fines without notice for certain violations and require temporary sign registration. The approved proposal also included transitioning from complaint-driven to pro-active enforcement and instituting weekend enforcement. Staff presented the proposed changes to the Sign, Zoning and NBO texts to the Community Advisory Commission related to expanding the City's Code Enforcement Program on September 1, 2004 and December 1, 2004 and to the Economic Development Commission on September 13, 2004. Comments were received and incorporated into the Draft Ordinance.

At the October 5th City Council meeting, the Council directed that two task forces be formed to provide more detailed review and input – a Code Enforcement Task Force and a Sign Code Task Force. Fourteen persons served on the Code Enforcement Task Force and twenty-six persons served on the Sign Code Task Force. The Code Enforcement Task Force met twice and the Sign Code Task Force met six times in 2004 and two business community meetings were held in November. In addition, the majority of the Sign Code Task Force recommended that the City Attorney update the political sign section of the code to include a restriction on the number of candidate signs per parcel.

On December 21, 2004, the City Council considered the first reading of the amendments to these ordinances and directed staff to return to the Council in 90 days after achieving greater consensus for the amendments from the Sign Code Task Force. The Council also directed that, upon return of the amendments, the proposal to transition to proactive code enforcement not be included and be delayed to some future date.

The Task Force has continued to meet and at its January 7, 2005 meeting, requested staff to proceed with a sooner first reading (February 1, 2005) based on their sense that consensus could be reached more quickly. At the January 18, 2005 Council meeting, staff provided a Task Force update. The Council directed that the amendments not come back before March 15, 2005 and to bring the amendments back to the Planning Commission in the interim.

Thus, on February 1, 2005, the City Council approved staff's request to continue the first reading for the proposed ordinance from February 1, 2005, to March 15, 2005. During discussion of the continuance, the Council directed staff to reflect the decisions of the majority of the Sign Code Task Force and the concerns of the minority in future staff reports. The Council also appointed Council member Armando Gomez to chair the remaining Sign Code Task Force meeting that was held on February 4, 2005. The notes from that final meeting are attached, as well as an attendance list.

Sign Code Task Force. The Sign Code Task Force met on January 7, 2005, January 21, 2005 and February 4, 2005. Although not all individuals who have attended one or more meetings of the task force were present at these meetings, those individuals present, with the exception of one abstention, unanimously concluded that:

- 1) The proposed ordinance presented to the Planning Commission and City Council in December amending the Sign Ordinance, Zoning Ordinance and Neighborhood Beautification Ordinance (NBO) is acceptable, as it stands, if the following changes were made:
 - a) Separate definitions for sign ordinance, zoning ordinance and NBO for "Individual Violation" to reflect examples of individual violations specific to those ordinances, thus creating three different definitions for the term "Individual Violation";

- b) Enforcement remedies for signs based on type of violation, location and violation severity as shown on the matrix below;

Summary matrix of proposed enforcement remedies for signs based on type of violation, location and violation severity
	Non Life Safety Private Property	Non Life Safety Public Property	Life Safety Private Property	Life Safety Public Property
Continuing Violation (persists more than 24 hrs.)	30 days to remedy after written notice; administrative fine imposed if not remedied within this time.	Confiscate if in violation of 3.07 (signs prohibited on public property)	Summary abatement or fine (city's option depending on severity) after 2 hour notice to remove if not removed.	Confiscate if in violation of 3.07 (signs prohibited on public property) .
Individual Violation (persists less than 24 hrs.)	Fine immediately upon second offense after notice of first offense	Confiscate if in violation of 3.07 (signs prohibited on public property).	Summary abatement or fine (city's option depending on severity) after 2 hour notice to remove if not removed.	Confiscate if in violation of 3.07 (signs prohibited on public property) .

- c) Limiting the number of fines for all signs in the right-of-way in violation of the same code provision by eliminating administrative citations in this case and instead confiscating the sign and charging $10.00 to recover the sign.
- d) A 6-month effective date (October 5, 2005), from time of ordinance adoption, for Sign Code administrative citation authority to take effect.
- e) Elimination of the three (3) foot setback from street curb for open house directional and garage sale signs, subject to certain exceptions such as keeping clear driveways, curb returns, bus/light rail zones, handicap access, and a 15 foot area from the curb return. A split decision was reached regarding prohibiting the attachment of such signs in any manner to a structure, such as trees, lampposts, streetlights, utility poles, utility cabinets, street or traffic signs, benches, hydrants and mailboxes if said sign is placed in the public right-of-way. Those not in favor of this attachment prohibition want to be able to attach their signs to these items using bungee cords. It was felt by the majority that this provision should stand as written to let the Council decide.
- 2) Within the 6-month period between ordinance adoption and implementation of Sign Code enforcement, the Task Force recommends the following:
- a) Courtesy notices of Sign Code violations shall be issued by staff in response to all Sign Code customer service requests. Courtesy notices shall state whether the violation results from the new Sign Code amendments and clearly explain the new amendment and how to comply, as well as to inform of the 6-month grace period during which fines cannot be levied for non-compliance;

- b) An educational outreach program shall be conducted to all businesses explaining the new amendments to the Sign Code, the enforcement procedure and the consequences of a violation of the ordinance. This would include information and outreach via the City's website including sketches and search features, the city newsletter, direct mailings to businesses by the City, e-mails sent by the city's various Chambers of Commerce and the Santa Clara County Association of Realtors to their members, press releases and articles to the English and non-English newspapers in the City, staff training, guest presentations by staff to the real estate industry, shopping center and the various Chambers of Commerce, and distribution of flyers attached to business license applications for new businesses; and
- c) Continuation of quarterly task force meetings for one year after ordinance adoption to monitor compliance by violators and implementation of the ordinance to assess whether any fine tuning is needed to the ordinance in the future to determine when it may be appropriate to resurrect the proactive enforcement proposal, to partner with the City to implement the outreach program and provide input on amendments to regulations governing political signs.

Please see the highlighted changes to the Ordinance amending the Sign, Zoning and NBO on pages 5, 27 and 35-37 (Attachment 1) that reflect the above Task Force work since the Planning Commission's and Council's last review of the amendments.

The proposed changes achieve three objectives: a) ordinance clarity, b) economic development and flexibility and c) enhanced aesthetics. The amendments reorganize the Sign Ordinance to provide definitions for several terms or sign types, move several isolated regulations into separate sections, provide a more effective Sign Program procedure for commercial and industrial sites, create Construction Signs, Joint Use Signs, Portable Sign and Temporary Promotional Sign categories, enhance the Sign Program process, provide administrative citation authority in the Sign Ordinance and address the violations sections of the Sign Ordinance and the Neighborhood Beautification Ordinance. These changes will make the ordinances easier for staff to implement and for the public to understand. A detailed explanation of each amendment is reflected on the executive summary matrix included in the Council's agenda materials.

Generally, the amendments can be summarized as follows:

Amendments to the Sign Ordinance:

- 1) Provide definitions for several types of signs.
- 2) Reorganize the Sign Ordinance to move several isolated but related provisions into their own stand-alone sections, make the ordinance better organized and to correct typographical errors.
- 3) Provide a matrix showing sign approval method by type of permit and by zoning district.
- 4) Expand the existing Design Guidelines for signage.
- 5) Provide regulations for Balloon Signs, Construction Signs, Joint Use Signs and Temporary Promotional Signs.
- 6) Require that Garage Sale signs not exceed 6 square feet per side, that they may be placed in the public right of way in the unpaved parkstrip only in the intersection area between the end of the curb return and a point on the curblane that is (15) fifteen feet from the curb return. If there is not parkstrip exists then the sign may be placed on the sidewalk within the public right of way, provided that the width of the pedestrian and handicap accessible pathway is not reduced by the sign to less than (4) four feet. The sign must not be placed in a curb return, a bus or light rail stop zone, within (2) two feet of any driveway or curb cut access ramp, between light rail tracks and the curb, adjacent to or within (4) four feet of any disabled parking zone or on a median strip. The sign must not be attached in any manner to any other structure, such as trees, lampposts, streetlights, utility poles, utility cabinets, street or traffic signs, benches, hydrants and mailboxes if the sign is placed in the public right-of-way. These signs may only be allowed on Saturdays, Sundays and holidays. Signs shall be limited to two per garage sale per intersection.
- 7) Require that Garage Sale signs not exceed 6 square feet per side, that they may be placed in the public right of way in the unpaved parkstrip only in the intersection area between the end of the curb return and a point on the curbline that is (15) fifteen feet from the curb return. If there is not parkstrip exists then the sign may be placed on the sidewalk within the public right of way, provided that the width of the pedestrian and handicap accessible pathway is not reduced by the sign to less than (4) four feet. The sign must not be placed in a curb return, a bus or light rail stop zone, within (2) two feet of any driveway or curb cut access ramp, between light rail tracks and the curb, adjacent to or within (4) four feet of any disabled parking zone or on a median strip. The sign must not be attached in any manner to any other structure, such as trees, lampposts, streetlights, utility poles, utility cabinets, street or traffic signs, benches, hydrants and mailboxes if the sign is placed in the public right-of-way. These signs may only be allowed on Saturdays, Sundays and holidays. Signs shall be limited to two per property advertised per intersection.

- 8) Provide a stand-alone section regulating permitted signs and providing such regulations.
- 9) Provide an enhanced Sign Program approved by the Planning Commission pursuant to an "S-Zone Approval".
- 10) Expand the Signs Exempted section to add several types of signs.
- 11) Provide a stand-alone section "Prohibited Signs" which would regulate prohibited signs.
- 12) Define "Continuing Violation".
- 13) Define "Individual Violation".
- 14) Provide for administrative citations for violations of the Sign Ordinance.
- 15) Provide an abatement procedure similar to that in the Neighborhood Beautification Ordinance.
- 16) Provide an appeal procedure to the City Council from decisions of the City Manager/Designee.

Amendments to the Zoning Ordinance

- 1) Clarify and expand the Zoning Ordinance administrative citation provisions.
- 2) Provide an abatement procedure similar to that in the Neighborhood Beautification Ordinance.
- 3) Define terms relating to the abatement procedure.
- 4) Define "Continuing Violation".
- 5) Define "Individual Violation".
- 6) Provide an appeal procedure to the City Council from decisions of the City Manager/Designee.

Amendments to the Neighborhood Beautification Ordinance:

- 1) Define "Continuing Violation".
- 2) Define "Individual Violation".
- 3) Provide an appeal procedure to the City Council from decisions of the City Manager.
- 4) Change the time period for "Unreasonable Period of Time" from thirty (30) days to fifteen (15) days to shorten the time that nuisances exist before they are cleaned up.

ENVIRONMENTAL REVIEW

The project is exempt from the provisions of the California Environmental Quality Act (CEQA) because it can be seen with certainty that there is no possibility that the ordinance text amendments may have a significant effect on the environment. The proposed text amendments will reorganize and clarify the Sign Ordinance, address violations in the Sign Ordinance and NBO and provide for Administrative Citation authority in the Zoning Ordinance. These changes will not have a significant effect on the environment.

On February 9, 2005, the Planning Commission, by a 6 to 1 vote, recommended that the City Council adopt Ordinance 124.27. On February 14, 2005, the Economic Development Commission unanimously recommended that the City Council adopt the ordinance as well. Some task force members felt the task force should exist for 1 ½ years rather than one year. An excerpt of the Planning Commission minutes is included in the Council's agenda materials.

RECOMMENDATION

6. Close the public hearing.
7. Waive reading beyond title.
8. Introduce Ordinance No. No. 124.27.
9. Authorize proposed outreach program and continuation of quarterly task force meeting for one year after adoption of the ordinance.
10. Authorize proceedings with updating the political sign section of the sign code, including adding a provision limiting the maximum aggregate area of political signs per candidate on a parcel.

TASK FORCE MEETING'S NOTES

Notes from:

SIGN CODE TASK FORCE MEETING #8
AGENDA
FEBRUARY 4, 2005 - 11:30 A.M.
MILPITAS CITY HALL FOURTH FLOOR CONFERENCE ROOM

Attendance: See attached attendance sheet.

I. Summary of 2/1/05 Council action regarding staff's requested continuation of first reading of the proposed ordinance from 2/1/05 to 3/15/05 (90 days from 12/21/04 Council meeting decision)

Vice Mayor and Chair Gomez indicated that at the Council meeting, the Council appointed him to attend and chair future Sign Code Task Force meetings, thus the reason that he was at today's meeting. It was also mentioned that notes were going to be taken to forward to the Council so that the majority's decisions, as well as the minority's views, could be included in staff's materials to Council since unanimous consensus may not be able to be reached.

II. Review proposed text to address 1/21/05 agreed upon solutions to outstanding task force issues

a) Separate definitions for sign code, zoning code and NBO for individual violation

Tambri Heyden pointed out to the task force that based on last meeting's (1/21/05) discussion about A-frame signs being proposed as an example in the sign code individual violation definition, staff removed the example in the latest ordinance draft. She also noted that the "prohibited sign" example in the NBO individual violation definition needed to be removed since the NBO doesn't cover signs. Consensus among those present was noted with regard to the definitions.

b) Rewritten proviso regarding written notice only for 1st offense for individual (recurring/less than 24 hours) violations that are non-life safety

c) Treatment of continuing violations and individual violations that are life safety hazards (allow sign confiscation instead of fines for signs in public right-of-way)

Items b) and c) above were discussed together since the proposed text to address them is combined into one section. Tambri Heyden reminded the Task Force that these two issues were raised due to a concern that individuals might not be given a notice for the 1st offense for individual violations and that what constitutes a life safety hazard is unclear.

She referred to a matrix staff prepared to illustrate how this issue is being proposed to be resolved. The matrix breaks down violations into two primary categories – continuing violations that are defined as violations that persist more than 24 hours and individual violations that persist less than 24 hours. Under each of these two primary categories, there are violations in the public right-of-way and those on private property and violations that are life safety hazards and those that are not life safety hazards. With last meeting's agreement to allow confiscation of signs, the city's only remedy for sign violations in public rights-of-way will be confiscation with a $10 fee to recover the sign, regardless of whether it is a continuing or individual violation or life-safety or non-life safety hazard. For private property violations, whether continuing or individual violations, if the violation is a life safety hazard, the city's remedy for correction would be summary abatement or a fine after providing the property owner a two-hour notice to correct the violation. For non-life safety violations on private property that are continuous, 30 days notice to correct the violation would be given after which the administrative fine would be imposed for lack of compliance. But, if the non-life safety violation on private property were an individual violation, a fine would only be immediately assessed for second and subsequent offenses.

Tambri Heyden pointed out that under this solution, all signs in the public right-of-way would be treated the same. Also, since the City's goal is to change behavior rather than collect fines, confiscation is a better tool to do that due to the inconvenience of retrieving a sign, despite the low $10 recovery fee.

Frank DeSmidt asked for clarification of what summary abatement meant. It was explained that under summary abatement, the Council decides to enter the property and correct the violation for the owner and that the City's costs for correcting the violation are then recovered from the property owner, as currently provided for under the existing code.

Vice Mayor/Chair Gomez asked for an example of a life safety hazard. Tambri Heyden described a past incident in which a business owner had erected a handmade sign on top of their roof during a period of high winds. The sign became detached from the supports that were attached to the roof and created a sail effect. Given the location, the sign was in danger of becoming dislodged and ending up in the adjacent public right-of-way. When brought to the owner's attention, he said he could not get someone up on the roof to remove the sign for 3 days, so staff is looking for the ability to get such hazards removed more quickly.

Robert Yen felt it is unfair to small businesses to impose fines for private property violations, yet only charge the real estate industry $10 to recover signs in violation that are located in the public right-of-way given the staff time and cost of close to $200 dollars an hour. He felt that imposing fines on A-Frame sign violations rather than just a token $10 fine designed primarily for the real estate industry was unfair treatment toward the small local merchants and tenants. Tambri Heyden gave an example of A frames that businesses put out in the right-of-way that would be remedied the same way (confiscation) as real estate signs.

Robert Yen felt that a penalty should be paid for signs in violation located in the public right-of-way besides the $10 recovery fee. Vice Mayor/Chair Gomez reiterated to Robert Yen that his comments would be forwarded to Council. Diane McDonough felt that business owners were getting the same break for public right-of-way signs by not being charged a fine.

Frank DeSmidt noted that the real estate industry could have two dozen signs out at a time with the potential of having numerous signs confiscated on this same day that could end up costing $2000 dollars in recovery fees. Heidi Wolf-Reid wanted to make it clear that the concern she has been raising is not to be given a special interest exemption. The real estate industry would not be getting a break because the City has not had the ability to assess fines for sign violations until the current proposal. She stated she needs to make sure that there is no negative impact on her industry and still questions the need to have administrative fines for signs during these times. She noted that the cumulative effect of the recovery costs is most likely to affect her industry. Robert Yen felt this remedy would encourage A frame signs, since the penalty is small and that A frames don't look good.

Frank DeSmidt asked how many public issue safety signs has the City had in the past month as they can't be ignored. Staff did not have the data, but Tambri Heyden estimated it was probably less than ½ dozen a year. Gloria Anaya pointed out that there are a lot of other types of public right-of-way safety hazards besides signs that are more common that appear within the sidewalk.

Robert Yen questioned the need to create this enforcement remedy given so few safety incidents which would give city staff more power to abuse. Tambri Heyden pointed out the flip side of the additional remedy which is to give the City more ability to protect the public from dangers such as the one she described that was a danger to motorists on Calaveras Blvd.

Robert Yen felt the City already has the authority within the Fire Department who could go grab the sign in an emergency situation and the Police Department could do it. Vice Mayor/Chair Gomez asked staff if this authority already existed. Tambri Heyden indicated that the Police Department can pick up any object in the right-of-way that is a hazard, but they don't have the authority to handle the example she gave until the sign ended up in the right-of-way.

Diane McDonough reminded the group of the suggestion recommended by the Task Force at a previous meeting of continuing the Task Force meetings on a quarterly basis once the amendments are adopted to evaluate whether some things are not addressed in the amendments.

Mike Queenan asked for staff to restate the noticing requirements and the tier of fines and explain how long a non-life safety violation can continue before it is finally resolved. Tambri Heyden explained that for a sign violation on private property, the property owner will receive a written violation notice giving them 30 days to fix the violation. If they don't fix the violation, then they get fined $100 and another violation notice is sent giving another 30 days to fix the violation. If it is still not fixed, they get a second tier fine of $200 and so on until the fines accumulate to the point of it being cost effective to seek collection through small claims court. Mike Queenan pointed out how this system could take years to get someone to cleanup debris in front of their home.

Vice Mayor/Chair Gomez wanted to know how many violations are taken care of with the first violation letter. Gloria Anaya shared the following data: 66 out of 70 temporary sign violations last year were resolved; 13 of these 66 took from 100 to 865 days to resolve. Tambri Heyden added that for NBO and zoning code violations where we have administrative citations, there is a much faster minimum compliance time – 30 days or less as compared to 100 days for sign violations. This involves more staff time to generate multiple violation notices and revisiting the property to see if compliance has been reached yet.

Vice Mayor/Chair Gomez asked about the statistics for abandoned vehicles. Gloria Anaya stated that only a 10 day notice is required and the City sees compliance within 20 days. For certain NBO violations, only a 15 day notice is required which achieves a quicker compliance rate.

Robert Yen shared his situation of having 17 small tenants with visibility problems and they continually receive violation letters for their sign violations. Being Asian Americans, they feel intimidated and afraid of authority and don't want to challenge the violation notices. He is the only one on the task force representing them and this is unfair to small businesses. Yet, big businesses like McDonalds and WalMart have the same violations/banner everywhere that are up for a year. Ed Eckert noted he is aware of some banners that have been up for 3 years.

Mike Queenan noted that task force participation from the business community was generally poor and that the business community needs to assist in educating other businesses and tenants. Without such a plan involving the business sector, the Council may hear negative comments about the sign code in the future. Mike Queenan added that he felt it would help Mr. Yen's tenants if Mr. Yen helped his tenants to understand the violations and agreed that this will be the most difficult part of the outreach in the next six months since it needs to be one on one. He also pointed out that Mr. Yen's example made the case for pro-active enforcement. As the CAC's representative to the task force, Mr. Queenan relayed that the CAC supports pro-active enforcement. Heidi Wolf-Reid indicated that their industry (real estate) has language barriers, too, and wanted the City to do specific outreach to these groups. [Note: This component was part of the outreach package approved by the Task Force at their last meeting.]

Mike Queenan questioned how you get property owners to follow the rules if you don't have fines and enforcement because violators either don't understand the rules or they are ignoring them, especially if some are taking up to 865 days to comply.

Gloria Anaya indicated that staff has four pending sign violations and that since we don't have citation authority, staff is having to deal with the property owners face to face, so she felt it was not a language barrier because the owners know that the City can't force them to comply or penalize them for not complying. Of the 70 cases last year, 13 of those took between 100 and 865 days to comply with the average being 91 days.

Heidi Wolf-Reid noted that we need to question why they are in violation. Ed Eckert felt this was selective enforcement.

Frank DeSmidt revisited the two options discussed at previous meetings -- go forward with the amendments that contain administration citation for signs with a date when enforcement/fine ability will begin (6 months) or remove administration citation from the amendments and the Council decides in 6 months to add it back in if voluntary compliance is not working. Greg Haas remarked that this was his bifurcation comment at the city council meeting in December.

Tambri Heyden reminded the group that at the last meeting, this issue came to a vote and the vote was in favor with only one abstention (Robert Yen).

Frank DeSmidt expressed his fear with having these amendments the Task Force has spent much time on going before the current Council when there was a different Council in May 2004 when the whole issue originally came before the Council. The work could be lost.

Vice Mayor/Chair Gomez stated that, speaking for himself, he didn't see that happening since his issue was starting pro-active enforcement because he didn't want to affect businesses. Based on some confusion about the current system, Frank DeSmidt noted that violation notices are only issued if someone has complained about the violations on someone's property. Mike Queenan felt the trend is going to be towards pro-active enforcement because once the outreach program begins and businesses learn more about the rules, they are going to report more complaints about their competitors' violations not being cited. He felt that was okay because it would lead to more fair treatment and less selective enforcement. Robert Yen continued to express concern about staff judging whether something is a violation.

Greg Haas explained why he supported the 6 months courtesy violation notices. He would like to see the city aggressively pursue remedies with the courtesy violation notices, as the city will eventually (6 months) attach a fine when those violations occur. Doing this allows the City and business the six month window to learn which of the regulations are doable and which need further massaging. If the City takes a passive approach during the first 6 months because of it's inability to collect fines, the Task Force won't know what adjustments to make to the amendments. Thus to be effective, it is imperative that city staff enter this trial/educational phase with the same zest in levying courtesy violation notices that they will eventually employ with the ability to collect fines 6 months later.

Tambri Heyden noted that the 2/2/05 draft in front of them reflects the aggressive approach Mr. Haas described. There was consensus to support the text related to agenda items b) and c) above.

- d) Limit on number of fines for all real estate signs in the right-of-way in violation of the same code provision (with solution c) above, the need becomes moot because in 2/2/05 version of draft ordinance fines have been eliminated as the city's remedy to correct such violations; maximum penalty will be $10 per sign that is confiscated)

Tambri Heyden remarked that in response to the issue raised at the two previous meetings about the need to limit the number of fines someone could be assessed for sign violations, when the decision was made at the last meeting to allow for confiscation for sign violations in the public right-of-way, it simplified matters. Since under the latest proposal fines will not be a remedy available to the City for such violations, the need to limit fines went away. She clarified that there would not be a limit on the number of $10 recovery fees, however.

Ed Eckert wondered how the City will locate real estate agents whose signs the City has confiscated if there is no phone number on the sign the City has confiscated. Heidi Wolf-Reid indicated that their industry does a lot of outreach and that they can live with the learning experience involved with teaching agents who to call and where to get their signs if the City cannot reach them due to no contact number on the sign. Greg Haas brought up last meeting's agreement by the City to do something on the city's website. Tambri Heyden confirmed the staff's commitment to set up a button to click on the subject of real estate signs.

III. Review of proposed text for new issue raised on 1/21/04 by real estate industry regarding eliminating required 3 foot real estate sign setback from curb Vice Mayor/Chair Gomez asked if this was a new issue. Tambri Heyden noted that it was and that it had been raised at the end of the last meeting. She noted further that an arrangement was made with Heidi Wolf-Reid to determine whether staff's suggestion was agreeable and that Ms. Wolf-Reid contacted her last week with having done some field investigation, but not enough to commit to the suggestion. Thus, staff proceeded with drafting the suggestion and running it by the City Attorney. She referred the group to the memorandum prepared by the City Attorney that stated there was increased liability with the suggestion and that the City Council would have to make a policy and business decision.

Tambri Heyden referred the group to the handout of San Jose's sign setback regulations noting that staff's draft is simpler. She noted that provision 1 and 2 remain the same as in previous drafts of the amendments and that in 3 is where the setback is eliminated, subject to certain conditions that help to define line-of-sight and safety criteria. She noted the conditions and Dennis Carrington referred the group to a diagram he drew to illustrate the proposed text. The conditions include restrictions on placing signs within the public right-of-way within 15 feet of the curb return, within a curb return, within 2 feet of a driveway, within a median strip, within 18 inches of a curb where parking is allowed, within a bus/light rail stop zone, within the 4 foot wide handicap accessible area, within 4 feet of a handicap space, and attached to structures such as trees, streetlights, utility poles, hydrants, with priority placement being given to park strips where they exist.

Greg Haas expressed concern with the prohibition of sign placement within 18 inches of a curb where parking is allowed since residential streets don't have marked on-street parking spaces. Tambri Heyden agreed to eliminate that criterion.

Ed Eckert showed a sketch he drew of his parcel and the adjacent sidewalk location. He pointed out that since the sidewalk there is only four feet wide, he could not put up an open house sign there. Tim Howard commented that he has seen people park their car in front of their open house and put the open house sign on their car. Ed Eckert noted his concern for maintaining handicap accessibility, but wants flexibility. Tambri Heyden asked why his sign couldn't be attached to the property fence. Ed Eckert said his signs were all A frames, thus couldn't be attached to the property fence. Mike Queenan felt that was an issue the real estate industry would have to deal with.

Ed Eckert pointed out that San Jose is not enforcing their real estate sign regulations. Tambri Heyden reminded the group that the Council has not requested weekend enforcement and that since real estate signs are erected predominantly on the weekends, enforcement will be minimal. But, she noted that, as agreed at the last meeting, we are approaching writing these regulations as if they might be enforced in the future so they need to be workable.

Robert Yen felt this is not a good change because of the safety issue and liability. Vice Mayor/Chair Gomez remarked that that would be a decision the Council will have to make. Robert Yen felt that since some things slip by, this was not a good amendment. Vice Mayor/Chair Gomez said he will be writing his own recommendation to the Council.

Greg Haas said the attachment prohibition precludes their industry from using bungee cords to secure their signs to structures in the right-of-way such as street lights and street signs. Tambri Heyden reminded the group that when this was discussed at past meetings, the damage the Public Works department must repair to these structures from people attaching signs to them was mentioned. Ed Eckert felt bungee cords would not cause damage. Greg Haas felt this provided a safer attachment and outweighed the little damage the bungee cords might cause. Tambri Heyden noted that most other cities do not allow anything attached to city structures and that besides damage, there was an aesthetic issues of having signs attached to city structures around the City.

Mike Queenan asked how the city handles their public hearing signs. Tambri Heyden mentioned that a year ago the Public Works Department asked Planning staff to discontinue attaching public hearing signs to city structures. She purchased printed signs that have a wire frame that is inserted into the ground.

Vice Mayor/Chair Gomez took a vote on the attachment prohibition. The vote was 4/4. Vice Mayor/Chair Gomez instructed staff to keep it in since notes were being taken and would be distributed to the Council for them to decide. Notes will be distributed to the task force members before general release for members to note any errors.

Greg Haas concluded with a remark about cautioning comparing San Jose's sign code since some of it doesn't work and even more importantly, they do not enforce the code. He noted that while staff had been more liberal in their proposal with respect to number of hours signs could be displayed, sign size, and park strip requirements, there may be other areas in the new code that might need adjusting. We need to write our code so that it is workable for the business community and thus enforceable by the city.

Meeting adjourned at 1:05 p.m.
